SPONSORSHIP GUIDE

The Spirit of Liberty

JULY 20-24, 2026 | UNIVERSITY OF MARYLAND

FEE Summer Campus is the premier free-market economic education event of the year, hosted by Foundation for Economic Education (FEE) this July at the University of Maryland.

In honor of the 250th anniversary of the Declaration of Independence, this year's Summer Campus, The Spirit of Liberty: Renewing the American Ideal, will introduce students and young professionals to the fundamental ideas of the freedom philosophy that animated the American Revolution, their mid-20th Century revival, and their modern application.

Core sessions will provide an introduction to Philosophy, Politics, and Economics (PPE) from a classical liberal perspective. Participants are required to select one of three following tracks.

THE PHILOSOPHY TRACK explores what FEE founder Leonard E. Read called “the philosophy of freedom,” including such core principles as equality under the law, individual rights, limited government, and free expression.

THE POLITICS TRACK

delves into how the philosophy of freedom is implemented as policy. Students will explore the US Constitution, the principle of federalism, and the problems of excessive executive power.

THE ECONOMICS TRACK

presents the saga of sound economics: how classical economics inspired the free trade movement and kicked off the Great Enrichment, how Marxism and Keynesianism derailed economic understanding and human progress, and how the Austrian school of economics fixed the fatal flaws of classical economics and debunked the fallacies of central planners.

Awards Dinner

Thursday, July 23 | University of Maryland, College Park

Join seminar participants for an exclusive awards dinner, celebrating highlights and awarding the top movers and shakers in free-market economic education.

Awards include:

- Student Competition Winners
- Teacher of the Year
- Economist of the Year
- Education Entrepreneur of the Year

Seating is limited and advance registration is required.
